

連句 — 「お風呂が待っている」

もしかしして今も
心に眠る結婚の
遠い日の面影

Even now, perhaps,
sleeping in the heart, a
faint shadow
of that far-off wedding day

誰が誰を
抱いていたのだろう
花か彼女か

Who was holding whom,
I wonder —
the flower, or her?

車へ向かい
窓越しに振り返る
茎は伸び 丸くなった背中

Walking toward the car,
turning back through the window —
the stem rising straight,
her back curved

夏水仙 静かな記憶のように
まっすぐ咲く

Surprise lily —
like a quiet memory
it blooms perfectly
straight

夏水仙
空と手の間に
誰かの手が触れる

Surprise lily,
between sky and hand —
someone's hand,
touching
with my limited words.

美しいのは
謎が謎のままであること
愛に名はいらない

What is beautiful
is that a mystery stays a mystery —
love needs no name

命はゆっくり
感覚の扉の向こう
そっと開いてゆく

Life, slowly,
beyond the door of feeling,
opens itself, gently

光は届く
名もなき力に導かれ
ここへ来たように

Light arrives,
led by a nameless force,
as if it had come here on
its own

若き二人は
いつか育つ家族を
まだ知らなかった

The young couple
then
didn't yet know
the family they'd grow
into

見えない場所で
夫は花を通して
そっと寄り添う

In some place unseen,
the husband, through
the flower,
quietly stays close beside
her

